

DENVER'S GLAD HAND EXTENDED

SPANISH WAR VETS HEAD THE GREAT WELCOME.

TO CITIZEN ROOSEVELT

Uryan and Funston Are in the Welcoming Throng—Monter Parade Feature of Gala Day.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 29.—With the entire city dressed in patriotic attire and with the strains of martial music heard on every hand, Denver today gave an enthusiastic welcome to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and to thousands of other visitors to the seventh annual national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans.
The greeting to the old colonel of the tough riders was as noisy as human voices, steam whistles and guns could make it and as cordial in words as in other manifestations of patriotic joy.
Madden in her history has Denver ever entertained so large a crowd.
The city's ordinary population was swelled by thousands of visitors from all parts of Colorado and by the hundreds of delegates from all over the country to the convention of the Spanish war veterans. Many distinguished guests were present in addition to the ex-President of the United States, included among them were General J. Franklin Bell, General Frederick Funston, Colonel William J. Bryan.

A military escort was in waiting at the Union Station to receive Colonel Roosevelt on his arrival in the city at 11:35 this morning. Colonel Edward
J. Gheen of Massachusetts, command-

SEEN AT SHEVEN

Colonel of the Spanish War Veterans, and Mayor Robert W. Speer and the members of the reception committee, who met him at the station and accompanying him to his special train, accompanied by Governor Shafroth and staff.

The procession moved up Seventeenth street, while the troops saluted and the band played "Hail Columbia."
Following the carriage in which Colonel Roosevelt, Governor Shafroth and Mayor Speer rode came other carriages containing noted guests. These were followed by the Spanish war veterans, regular troops from Fort Lazan, the Colorado National Guard, the High School Cadets, Grand Army veterans and numerous other military and semi-military organizations. At the capital the procession was reviewed by Colonel Roosevelt, Governor Shafroth and other notables.

Colonel Roosevelt delivered two speeches during the afternoon. The first was made at the auditorium under the auspices of the Colorado Livestock association and the second was delivered in the same place later in the day to the Spanish war veterans.
One of the features of the day's program which the ex-President enjoyed most was the cowboy luncheon at Overland park, which he attended as the guest of the Denver Press club.
During the day Colonel Roosevelt displayed a lively interest in the proceedings of the Spanish war veterans' convention and frequently gave hearty manifestations of his pleasure at renewing acquaintanceship with many of his old comrades of the Cuban campaign.
The parade of the veterans and the formal opening ceremonies occupied virtually the entire day, so that the regular business of the convention will not be taken up until tomorrow morning. Much discussion is heard among the delegates regarding the choice of a commander-in-chief to succeed Colonel Gheen, whose term of office expires with the present convention. It is probable that Colonel Roosevelt's name will be presented to the convention, notwithstanding a number of other prominent veterans are mentioned for the honor. Oklahoma City, Louisville, Atlantic City and Rochester are engaged in a split contest for the next encampment.

NEW SENSATION IS SPRUNG IN LAST WEEK OF CONTEST

Claimed That Candidate For Attorney
General Used Envelopes Printed
For Fire Marshall.

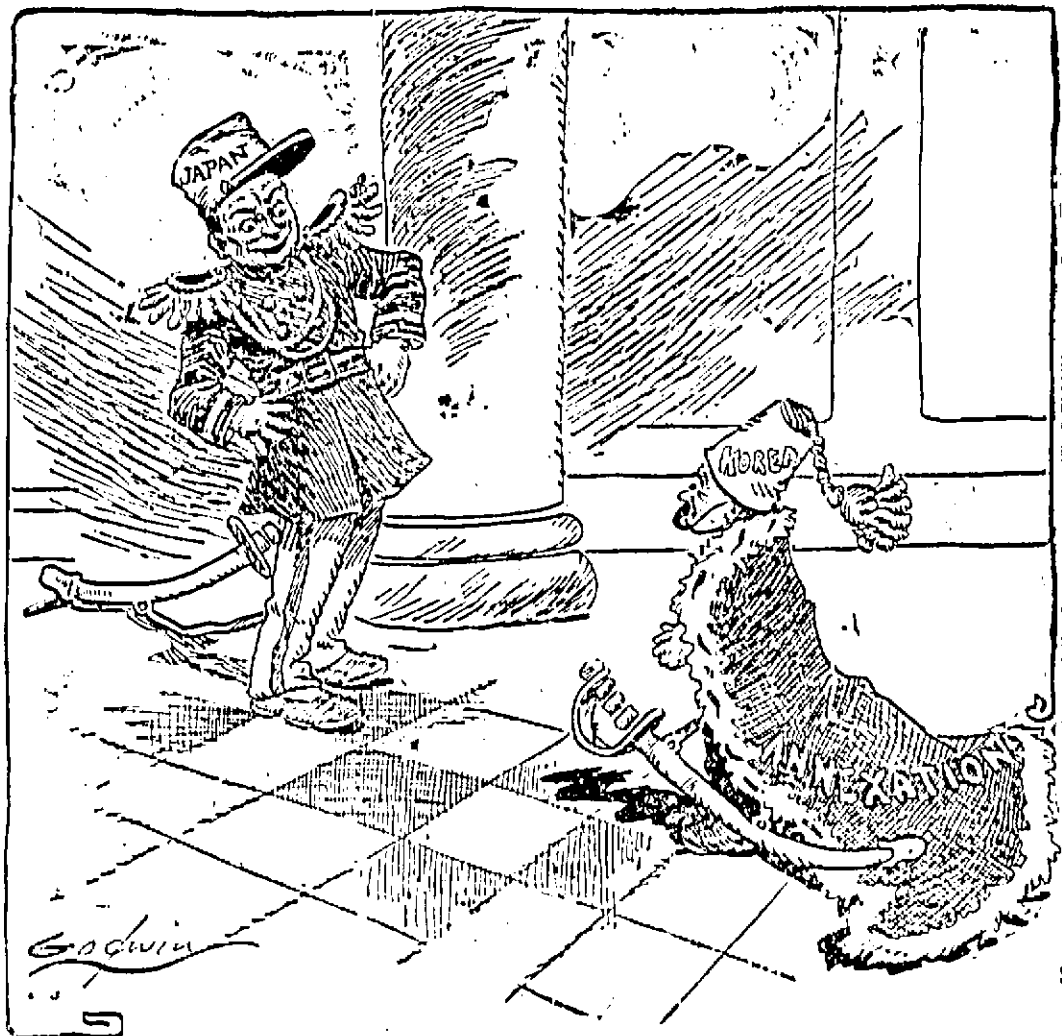

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 29.—A campaign sensation is being sprung here in the discovery that the stamped envelopes used to send out letters in interests of Frank Tucker, LaFollette candidate for Attorney General, originally came from the State Fire Marshall's office and apparently were printed at the expense of the state.

The subscription in corner "Return to in five days to the State Fire Marshall, Madison, Wis." was first covered with "Sticker" bearing legend
"Republican county committee, Nelsonville," (Tucker's home town) and on top of that another sticker with a name address of the local German American Bank.

The letter inside was signed by an official of the bank, John Subr, and urged the nomination of Tucker.
A peculiar feature is that the State Fire Marshall Purcell and his assistant are known to be enemies of al-LaFollette. Tucker when seen, refused to make any statement but said he might explain circumstances later.
The discovery of the envelopes were brought about by Henry Gunderson of Portage, a candidate for attorney general, who brought a number of envelopes to Madison.

In a statement today State Fire Marshall Purcell declared he had instituted a vigorous search for clues to the person who stole the departmental

COMMERCE UMPIRES OPEN BIG HEARING

Interstate Commission to Know About Proposed Freight Advances of Western Trunk Lines.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 29.—One of the most important commercial battles in the history of the United States was inaugurated today with the arrival of the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission to begin their inquiry into the proposed advances in freight rates recently announced by the roads of the Western Trunk Line Association. The roads involved number over 20 and include virtually all of the important transportation lines in the Western trunk line, transcon-tinentals and Illinois freight commission territories. It will probably be several months before the taking of testimony is completed. The traffic and other officials of the railroads will endeavor to convince the commission that the roads are in need of a general and marked advance in freight rates. Opposing them will be a large number of prominent shippers and others' organizations, who will contend that the increase demanded is entirely unwarranted by existing conditions.

MURDER CHARGE IS READ IN COURT IN CRIPPEN HEARING

Dr. Crippen is Formally Charged With Killing His Actress Wife—Corporal
Was Identified.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Aug. 29.—Both Dr. Crippen and Miss Lennox, his typist, were accused of murder of the former's wife in a formal charge read to them in the Bow Street Police court today.
Miss Lennox is charged also with harboring and maintaining Dr. Crippen after the crime and while knowing he had committed it.
During proceedings, Inspector Dew produced evidence to show that Dr.
Crippen contemplated suicide while in prison, following his flight from this country. Dr. Crippen was quoted as saying he had no intention of killing his wife, but was involved in the trouble in which he was involved and Miss Lennox was said to have protested her innocence.
The fact they today are accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, Dr. Crippen's actress wife, leads to the supposition the mutilated body found in the cellar of Crippen's home has been identified to the satisfaction of the authorities.

"I can't stand the horror which I have gone through every night any longer and I have made up my mind to jump overboard tonight," Inspector Dew testified today that he found the above note on Dr. Crippen when he arrested him off Father Point. The note was intended for Miss Lennox. Dew said as soon as he learned Crippen's intention of suicide, he placed him in handcuffs.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The semi-official paper, The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine government's view of the Emperor's Kaiserliche speech which has been condemned by part of the press as an expression of absolutism and an under estimation of the people and the people's representatives, says the speech was not an act of the government but an expression of personal convictions of the monarch and as such was the breath and spirit of his sense of duty resting upon the religious grounds which his majesty had repeatedly proclaimed and had made actual in his conduct as a ruler.

Determination Conquers. To a man with a will and a purpose there is nothing impossible. Such a man can do anything; he can accomplish seeming miracles. Once he puts his shoulder to the wheel he never lets the spokes turn in a backward direction, but always pushes them onward and forward inch by inch and revolution by revolution until he rolls them to the top of the hill.

FORMER GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA, APPOINTED SENATOR: Claude A. Swanson, ex-governor of Virginia, who has just received the appointment of United States senator to succeed the late John W. Daniel, his charming wife and Governor Mann of Virginia, who made the appointment.

Richmond, Va.—The life ambition of ex-Governor Claude A. Swanson of Virginia has been realized in his appointment by Governor Mann to succeed the late John W. Daniel in the United States senate. The unexpected term which he will only extend to March 3 next, but he will have the honor and pleasure of serving his state in the upper house of congress. His charming wife, who is one of the most prominent figures socially in Virginia and Washington, is equally as pleased as the former governor. He will be a candidate to succeed himself in the next election. Success has uniformly attended the political aspirations of Claude A. Swanson. He is a comparatively young man in years and a Virginia product of which the state is proud. From the days when he was a clerk in a general store to the time he was graduated from the law department of the University of Virginia in 1880, his wife was studious and he labored the reputation among his colleagues of being a young man who thought problems out for himself and acted accordingly. Mr. Swanson practiced law at Charlottesville, Va., for several years and was turned into the political arena, receiving many higher state offices and appointments. In 1893 he was elected to congress and re-elected to the Fifty-ninth congress. He resigned from this to accept the election to the governorship of Virginia and now receives the appointment to the United States senate.

JACK SHERIDAN, American League Umpire Scout.

Jack Sheridan, under the direction of President Johnson of the American League, has been designated as chief umpire. As such his duties will be two-fold. Besides traveling from city to city and watching the work of the various umpires and reporting on their ability, he will be constantly on the lookout for new material. For this reason he has been dubbed the American League umpire scout.

PITCHER UPSETS DO PE—EDDIE KARGER. Boston, Mass.—Eddie Karger has shown the Boston fans that he is one of the real "come backs." His work this season in the box has proven him another Mathewson. He is leading the American league pitchers. Six years ago Karger was a star with the St. Louis team. Later he was traded to Cincinnati where he failed to make good. He then drifted to St. Paul where he was picked up by Boston and has proven that he is one of the great pitchers.

To the Voters of Rock County

I wish to thank you for the interest you are showing in my candidacy for the office of Register of Deeds. If you are not familiar with my qualifications I will say that I began school teaching and left this work to accept a position in a railway office, where I worked ten years as bookkeeper and agent. I have held my present position as town clerk for the past ten years, and during the last four years have spent the greater part of each year working as bookkeeper for the Rock County Sugar Co., my farm requiring the balance of my time. This office experience will undoubtedly prove a valuable help to me in discharging the duties of Register of Deeds should I be elected to that office. Let me urge you to attend the Primary Election Tuesday, September 6, 1910, and ask you to call the attention of your friends to the importance of voting on Primary Day.

W. B. DAVIS, Town Clerk Town of Janesville.

The newest, quaintest idea in Birth Cards are now received. It consists of a regular size calling card and a quarter size calling card bound together with a ribbon bow, and is a very pretty idea for announcing the birth of a baby. The larger card containing the names of the parents, the smaller card the name of the baby. Call and see them at this office.

In Letter to Chairman of National Republican Congressional Committee, the President Claims Credit for Majority for Much Good Legislation.

Flovely, Mass., Sept. 29.—The letter of President Taft, to be incorporated in the Republican campaign text book is substantially as follows:

My Dear Mr. McKinley:

As the chairman of the National Congressional Republican committee you have asked me to give the reason which should lead voters in the coming November election to cast their ballots for Republican challenges the party that when this letter is given publicity the lines will be drawn, the party candidates will have been selected, and the question for decision will be whether we shall have, in the house of representatives a Republican or a Democratic majority. The Republican party will not be in any perplexity of Republicanism or one prefers, but whether it is better for the country to have the Republican party control the legislation for the next two years and further reform its promises to enable it to carry out its promises. In the future to interpose a veto to Republican measures, or to formulate and pass bills to carry out Democratic principles. Prominence has been given during the preliminary canvases just ended to the differences between Republicans, but the differences between Democrats should be forgotten. Differences within the party were manifested in the two sessions of the present congress, and yet never in its history has the Republican party possessed and become responsible for so many good and profitable legislation. No doubt, the legislation will doubtless arise between members of a Republican majority as to the details of further legislation, the party, as a whole, will show itself in the future as in the past, practical and efficient in subordinating individual opinions in subordinating national progress. Hence it is important that after Republican congressional candidates have been duly and fairly chosen all Republicans who believe in the party principles as declared in the national platform should forthwith give their loyal and effective support. If this be done there will be no doubt of a return of a Republican majority.

In Case of Democratic Majority. The only other alternative is a Democratic majority. It is difficult, very difficult, to state all the principles that would govern such a majority in its legislative course; and this because its party platform has presented a variety of plans, not altogether consistent, and because, in the present course, leading Democrats legislated in the senate and the house have not hesitated to repudiate certain of their party pledges and to deny their binding character. We may reasonably assume, however, that a Democratic majority in the house would mean that the Republican doctrine of a suspended constitution in 1908 trine of protection as announced in 1907. Let us consider, summarily, the promises made and the legislation enacted by the present congress: First, and of primary importance, was the tariff on imports of rice the tariff in a new range with the rule held in the tariff platform, to-wit: That to facilitate on articles imported should be equal to the difference between their cost of production abroad and that cost in this country, including a reasonable profit for the domestic manufacturer. A very full investigation—full, at least, as such investigations have been conducted in the past—was made by the ways and means committee of the house in determining what rates should be charged to result in six increase in some two hundred and twenty, while eleven hundred and fifty remained unchanged. The bill was amended in the Senate but the proportion of increases to decreases was maintained. When I signed

"The bill, I accompanied by approval with the following memorandum:

Payne Tariff Bill Explained.

"I have signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of a sincere effort on the part of the Republican party to make a downward revision, and to comply with the promises of the platform as they have been generally understood, and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election.

"The bill is not a perfect tariff bill, as a complete compliance with the promises from 1990, and the number of articles published in the journal has increased from 1990 to 1999. The number of articles published in the journal has increased from 1990 to 1999. The number of articles published in the journal has increased from 1990 to 1999.

here, I believe that while this excess has not been reduced in a number of cases, in a great majority the rates are such as are necessary to protect American industries, but are low enough, in case of abnormal increase of demand, and raising of prices, to permit the possibility of the importation of the foreign article and thus to prevent excessive prices.

The power granted to the executive under the maximum and minimum clauses

July Figures of Interior Markets De-

Washington, Aug. 29.—Live stock receipts during July at seven primary interior markets, 2,238,875 head, were on a lower scale than during the preceding month, according to the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. An increased commercial supply of sheep and cattle during the month was more than counterbalanced by the falling off in the arrival of hogs.

Similar declines also were noted in the monthly arrivals of live stock at the four leading Atlantic sea coast cities, the July total, 650,937 head, falling 20 per cent, below the figure for the preceding month.

Shipments of packing-house products during July, amounting to 162,967,400 pounds, likewise fell below the June figure.

The commission, however, already selected and at work, is a commission of disinterested persons who will ascertain the facts, not in a formal hearing by examination and cross-examination of witnesses, but by the use of the methods of that statisticians and scientific investigators use. When the commission completes its work, either on the entire tariff or on any of the schedules in respect to which issues have arisen, and the work of the commission shows that the present tariff is wrong and should be changed, it will bring the matter to the attention of the congress with a view to its amendment of the tariff in that particular. Of course, this will be impracticable unless congress itself shall adopt the parliamentary rule, as I hope it will, that no bill shall be introduced which the tariff may not be subject to a motion to amend by adding changes in entire schedules.

It will thus be possible to take up a single schedule with respect to which it is probable that a great majority of such houses will be unopposed, to submit the balance to a vote of the tariff commission, and to reach a fair conclusion. From this it seems to me that all Republicans—conservative, progressive and radical—may well believe the situation with respect to the tariff until evidence now being accumulated shall justify changes in the ratios; and that it is much better for them to vote for the tariff commission than to vote for the Democratic majority which would be utterly at war with the protective principle, and therefore would have no use for the findings of the tariff commission, as we may certainly infer from the solid Democratic vote in the present Congress against the necessary appropriation for the commission's work.

One great virtue in the new tariff law, including the corporation tax, is, that taken with the earnest effort of the administration to keep down or reduce governmental expenditures and to reform the methods of collecting the customs revenue, it has, by its revenue-producing capacity, turned a deficit in the ordinary operations of the government of $25,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1913, into a surplus in the first full year of the law, ending Aug. 31, 1914, of $25,000,000. From a standpoint there can be no controversy over the effectiveness of the new law.

The Corporation Tax.
Again, the present law in the corporation tax imposes a very kind of tax which has many of the merits of an income tax. It taxes success, not failure. Unlike a personal income tax, it is easily and exactly collected, and by an increase or decrease in the rate, enables congress with exactness to regulate its income to its necessary expenditures.

The next most important work of the present congress was the passage of the amendment to the Interstate commerce bill. The Republicans in the senate met with the Interstate commerce act with a view to giving greater power to the Interstate commerce commission in regulating the operation of railroads and the rates of traffic rates, and also to avoid such national legislation and supervision as would prevent the future over-lapse of stocks and bonds by the Interstate carriers. After the adjournment of the senate, Mr. Taft, as secretary, invited twenty of my cabinet, a member of the Interstate commerce commission and a member of congress to make recommendations on the amendment to the Interstate commerce act. These gentlemen reported to me and in September last, in a speech in Des Moines, I forwarded their recommendations to the congress for the amendment of the Interstate commerce act.

Interstate Commerce.—First, by the establishment of a commerce court; second, by empowering the commission to classify merchandise as well as rates; third, by giving the right to a shipper to designate the route by which his goods shall be transported beyond the line of the initial carrier; fourth, by empowering the commission to suspend or to increase rates at any rate without the complaint or intimation of a shipper; fifth, by empowering the commission to suspend proposed increases of rates by carriers until the commission shall have a chance to make a new schedule; sixth, by increasing sixth, by provisions for the federal regulation of the issue of stocks and bonds by interstate railways; seventh, by a clause forbidding an interstate carrier to discriminate against a shipper in a competing route; eighth, by a section permitting the making of traffic agreements between competing railroads limited in point of time and subject matter, and subject to the approval of the bureau of commerce commission.

These amendments were in accordance with the text of the Republican platform. Subsequently, bills were drawn embodying this recommended legislation, in which while the principle was maintained, there were limitations introduced, as justice suggested, after a conference with all the parties interested. The bill was submitted to the congress and after a great deal of discussion both in the house and the senate it was enacted into law, with mainly amendments which did not materially change the effect of the recommendations except to strike out certain provisions promised in the Republican platform, to permit traffic agreements between railways in spite of the anti-trust law, to forbid one railway company to acquire stock in a compelling company, and to secure supervision by the interstate commerce commission of the issue of stocks and bonds by interstate railways.

For this last was substituted a provision authorizing the appointment of a commission to consider the evils arising from the over-trading of stocks and bonds, and the methods of preventing such evils by congressional regulation.

The postal savings bank bill has a similar history. It is one of the great Congressional enactments. It creates an epoch. It institutes a system which will protect the people, prevent theft among the poor, and provide a depository for their savings which they properly may consider absolutely safe, and will also turn into the channels of trade and commerce a large volume of money which otherwise would be idle. It will, in addition, it will stimulate the investment of savings in government bonds of small denominations, for which the bill provides. Like the tariff bill and the railroad bill, this was put through each House of Congress by a Republican majority, and was signed by a Republican President.

The Republican party at the last session of Congress again exhibited its deep and sincere interest in the general well-being of the Nation, and the welfare of the country by adding important amendments to its already long record of legislation on this subject. Practically all classes of employees, especially those engaged in the mining industry, are the beneficiaries of laws which should operate to lighten the burdens which naturally fall upon the shoulders of man. The Republican party is ever ready to take the lead in the dangers under which hundreds of thousands of miners work, by creating the Bureau of Mines. This bill was passed for the purpose of establishing a bureau for the purpose of conducting investigation, examination and report to the world of the kind of safety appliances that will prevent the awful losses of life in the operation of mines, and especially of coal mines. A second purpose of the bureau is to perform the same office in respect to the great industry of mining that the Department of Agriculture performs in respect to the farming interests of the country; that is, by experiment and investigation to determine the most effective methods of mining and the best means of avoiding the deplorable waste that now obtains.

other legislation commended.

No more important legislation in the interest of the injured life has ever been enacted by Congress than the bill which the recent session giving to the Interstate Commerce Commission ample powers to define the needed safety appliances for the prevention of accidents to passengers and firemen, and after a hearing, to adopt their own regulations for the adoption by interstate railroads. This legislation, with respect to the inspection of locomotive boilers and the removal of dangerous overhead obstructions, awaits in consideration of the Senate the approval of the majority and I hope that it may speedily be passed.

The "employers' liability act" was perfected by needed amendment so as to enable injured employees more easily to recover just damages.

It is a step in the right direction, but the next step taken in the interest of the worker was the creation of a Congressional commission to report a practical bill for the fixing of workmen's compensation for injuries received in the employment of interstate commerce railroads, as well as the injured to be fixed by speedy arbitration and to be graduated according to the extent of the injury and the earning capacity of the injured person. This is important, because it gives interstate commerce railroads, but not coal, as furnishing a model to the country for a beneficial change in the legal relation between employee and employer. This reform would put an end to the vexatious litigation through which an injured employee must go in order to recover damages, and to the expense on account of the poverty of the employee frequently serves to defeat the ends of justice, and in other instances leads to exorbitant and unjust verdicts.

Conservation of Resources.

One of the great questions which has been made a national issue and aroused public interest through the insistence of President Roosevelt is that of conservation of our natural resources. From the Federal standpoint, this concerns the preservation of forests, the reclamation of arid lands of the government and the proper treatment and disposition of our govern-mineral lands, coal, phosphate lands, oil and gas lands, and the lands known as waterpower sites, that the lands in the streams where the water power must be converted in order to be useful. During Mr. Roosevelt's administration millions of acres of lands included in the classes described were withdrawn from the public domain. It is proper and in Alaska, in order to avert improper legislation, doubt arose as to the Executive's power to make these withdrawals, and therefore as to their legality, and they are contested in the present case. It is true that the Executive has withdrawn lands, but continued the executive withdrawals, but suggested, as a matter of wise precaution, securing from Congress express power to make them. If Republican majorities in both houses withdrew the bill, it would be a withdrawal of the present case. The Executive has made, and now over 70 millions of acres have been re-withdrawn of lands included within the classes described.

Pledge for Statehood Kept.
The Republican platform promised that it would admit to statehood the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and that promise has been redeemed with suitable provisions for securing good and sound constitutions of the states by requiring their adoption in advance of the election of state officers, and their submission to Congress for consideration, and possible rejection.

All this long list of useful functions was promised in the Republican platform and has been put through by Republican majorities.

The appropriations for the last year were more than $29,000,000 less than the appropriations of the year before, and the actual execution of the bill, $11,000,000 were saved in the operation of the Post Office Department, for which appropriation had already been made.

A number of other promises remain to be kept. I have already alluded to the provisions to regulate the issue of stocks and bonds by interstate commerce, and to the regulation of interstate immigration in the Senate. As its world position on the ground that the central government has no constitutional power to make and enforce such laws is a serious addition to the promised procedure, determining the preliminary injunction shall issue without notice, and when, in substitution for this the Democratic platform proposes an amendment to the existing laws, the Democratic party is guilty of a double standard. The Democratic policy of lawless workmen and would seriously impair the power of the courts of equity to do justice. Then there is the measure to promote the interstate mail service for foreign service, to which in previous Congresses the Democratic party has always opposed an almost solid front.

In view of what the present Republican Congress has done in the fulfillment of its promises, it is not difficult to see the standard that it has set in respect to the sacredness of party pledges. I have no hesitation in urging all who are in favor of the performance of the remaining pledges, who are in favor of progress, in the political, economic, and social fields, who are in favor of improvement, in favor of the just regulation of railways and of interstate commerce, in favor of the protection of corporations, in favor of a bureau of health, in favor of a proper limitation of the power of the trusts, in favor of the protection of the people, in favor of measures to promote the merchant marine engaged in foreign service, to vote for the Republican Party.

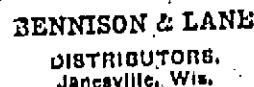

Republican candidate for Congress in order that their wish for all this progressive legislation may be gratified, and that in the future he may be able to do for us to invite your attention to that of all those engaged in advancing the Republican cause in the coming election, to the fact that it is one of the utmost importance to make this campaign in earnest, to drive the clouds of misrepresentation that have obscured the real issues and have made it difficult to secure for the Republican majority in Congress the real credit due them from the country. I am respectfully asking you to do this accomplished task by bringing glory home to all voters, and especially to the young men now voting for the first time, and they become impressed, as they ought to be by this ground, with the interference in the governmental efficiency and capacity, of while Republican and Democratic parties, they will enroll themselves with with party of anarchy and progress rather than with the party of education and negation, and the resulting degradation of the Sixty-second Congress will vindicate their choice.

 Sincerely yours,
 WM. H. TAFT.

Solely in his capacity as a private citizen and resident of the Third ward, John P. Cullen, head of the J. P. Cullen Co., called upon Mayor Carlo this morning and lodged a remonstrance against the so-called repair work that is being done on Center avenue, between the Pleasant and Riverside street intersections, at the expense of the Fifth ward fund.

He claims that this "repair work" is of the same character for which property holders are assessed $1.30 or more a foot in other wards; that crushed stone is being conveyed thither for filling in some instances a foot deep on a roadway 48 feet wide while those in charge of legitimate undertakings elsewhere, on the Municipal street, are unable to get the material they need from the crusher; that the whole proceeding is in violation of the ordinance that stipulates that repair work on any thoroughfare shall not be done with material other than that of which the said highway has been built (in this case gravel); and that a great injustice is being worked to property holders in other parts of the city who have paid for their improvements.

Alderman Hall of the Third ward who is greatly interested in the street improvements on the hill said this morning that the force at work on Center avenue even tried to take the street roller away from the Municipal street job but that he put a quibus on that in pretty short order.

The measure calling for repairs on Center avenue is credited to Alderman Donahoe of the Fifth ward. It was passed without opposition at a recent meeting of the council. It is taken for granted that the street commissioner, in his work of converting Center avenue into a first class macadam highway, has been acting under orders of Alderman Donahoe and Hall, both of whom reside on that particular thoroughfare.

Mayor Carlo was loath to interfere with ward matters of this kind but promised to advise with those in a position to enlighten him on certain points as to custom and practice and the best policy to pursue. Mr. Cullen wanted a special meeting of the council called tonight and a stop put to the "alleged repairs" without any delay. He intimated that he might consult a lawyer and take some legal action if his demand were not heeded.

STRUCK ON HEAD BY SPENT BULLET

Eight-Year-Old Ruth Scarelliff injured in Mysterious Fashion While Walking on Center Street.

While walking on Center street, between the South Franklin and Jackson street intersections, shortly after five o'clock Friday afternoon, eight-year-old Ruth Scarelliff, daughter of George Scarelliff who resides at 164 S. Franklin St., had the right side of her head grazed by some sort of a small missile—either a pellet from an air gun or a Remington bullet. The child at first thought she had been stung by some insect until the wound inflamed and began to bleed freely. She saw no one in the neighborhood armed with any sort of a shooting iron and heard no report. The injuries were dressed by Dr. M. A. Cunningham and unless blood poisoning or some other untoward complication sets in, there will be no lasting ill effects.

BAD BOYS WASTED VALUABLE ASPHALT

Opened Kettle Valve Last Evening and Allowed Five Barrels of it to Flow Into Gutter.

All is not smooth sailing in the carrying out of the asphalt macadam contract on Sinclair street. The contract stipulates that not less than 1 1/2 gallons of asphalt shall be used on each square yard of stone to fill to voids, which amount, in most instances, Inspector Craft finds insufficient for a good job. He is insisting on 2 1/2 gallons, where necessary, and the Grand-Graham Co., contractors, are objecting strenuously owing to the high cost of the material—some $19 a ton.

Last evening some of the bad boys in the neighborhood gave the contractors additional cause for complaint. W. H. Altman of Chicago, representing the Standard Asphalt & Rubber Co., who came here to show the contractors how to use the material, closed out the kettle yesterday and started a fire under about nine barrels of the substance so as to have it ready for business today. Between the hours of 5 and 6:30 p. m., while he was absent from the scene, some youngsters got hold of a wrench and opened the valve. About five barrels of the stuff flowed out into the gutter before some other boys happened to pass by and had the good sense to put a stop to the waste. Whether anything can be done with the $25 worth of material that is mixed with sand and stone remains to be seen.

Chief Appley started out this morning on a still hunt for the offenders and will probably run them down before night.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN

OATMEAL A COMPLETE FOOD.

Oatmeal contains every element of nutrition, a little larger percentage of albumen than the other cereals and more fat. It is a satisfactory substitute for meat. Formerly the Scotch and Scotch-Irish lived largely on oatmeal, with very little or no meat, and they occupy a high place in science, literature, commerce, war and especially in theology. As albumen in any form is injured by high temperature, oatmeal and other cereals are best prepared in the fireless cooker, or at least in a double boiler. Oatmeal biscuits are not to be recommended on account of their being excessively roasted; although hard bread or biscuit is, generally speaking, preferable to any mush, because it necessitates chewing, which is especially necessary for children.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WHAT YOU expect of the men and women about you—that to a certain extent you get.

"That is a doctrine that I think is daily receiving more recognition in the social and business world."

But in one of its most important possible applications I don't think it has received half enough attention—and that is in the bringing up of children.

There is a little boy near us whose mother, although she is not the kind of person who would ever communicate a doctrine like that even to herself, does thoroughly believe in and apply it.

For instance:

Harry was going on an all-day picnic with a neighbor's family. It was a place to which he had never been, but had always wanted to go. He had been thinking of the excursion for weeks. I happened to be at his home when the neighbor with whom the much dreamed-of excursion was to be taken, came over to break the sad news that, owing to a sudden change in her plans for the summer, the excursion would have to be postponed indefinitely.

"I expect Harry will just about break his heart over it," she said to his mother.

Harry himself came into the room at just that moment.

"Dear me, no," said Harry's mother, cheerfully and serenely. "Harry's just the bravest boy that ever was about things like that. Just like a grown-up, you know, and see what a different result you get than if you impelled him to tears with all the force of pity and suggestion by saying, 'Oh, dear, did he hurt his head just awful? Don't cry, dear, it's too bad.'"

If you continually expect of your child, and suggest to him in ways like this, all good qualities, such as courage, self-control and unselfishness—does it stand to reason that your attitude can help having a good effect on his character?

Pick the baby up when he falls and bumps his head, with a cheery "My, but we've got a brave baby. He smiles just as nice, no matter how he is hurt," and see what a different result you get than if you impelled him to tears with all the force of pity and suggestion by saying, "Oh, dear, did he hurt his head just awful? Don't cry, dear, it's too bad."

In a recent magazine an expert on household economies makes this statement:

"All housewives should know that sugar boiled with an acid oven for two or three minutes will be converted into glucose or grape sugar. One pound of sugar has as much sweetening power as two and a quarter pounds of grape sugar or glucose. In other words, one pound of sugar stirred into fruit after it is cooked and still warm will make the fruit as sweet as two and a quarter pounds added when it is being boiled. Boiling fruit for a long time and skimming it before adding the sugar is a very economical way of making preserves. The sugar is added after the fruit has been boiled long enough."

I have not tried this cold method of sweetening preserves. I belong to the old-fashioned school, and "pound for pound and boiled three" is my own (old-fashioned) method. It will make a preserve of any fruit that will keep, unspiced, in almost any climate. But I think this sounds reasonable and so I am passing it on while the fruit season is on. I will make a test of it myself and hope that others will do the same. Any method which will add to the economies of the expensive preserving season will be valuable.

The canning of fruit for winter sauces without sugar has added many possibilities to the homemaker who finds it almost impossible to afford both fruit and sugar at the same time. If she has a fireless cooker and will heat the fruit through, while stirring to keep from burning, she need add but little water to any fruit. Set in the cooker for an hour after the fruit has been heated. It will then have sugar.

ANCESTORS IN THE MAKING.

By MARY RUSSELL.

When you hear people boasting of their descent from great ancestors you wonder if the great ones would have been proud to acknowledge the connection.

We all enjoy the knowledge that we are just a little better than the neighbors. Some of our qualities are so subtle and hidden that the world is unaware of their existence, but we know we have them, and so we hug our secret breasts and are superior to our content.

We are inclined to look down on the man who is in a hole. If we are charitably inclined we will lend a hand from the lofty heights upon which we imagine we are placed.

We lend a hand—that is different from setting behind and pushing. It is not the same as walking arm in arm. We feel that we are doing a splendid deed when we "lend a hand," but after all it is not a stooping from the heights and reaching down into the hole to pull up some deeply misdeed brother rather than giving him the chance to dig out by himself?

It is difficult to get away from the personal note. We must contrast our own shortcomings, but at the same time we have ready our own excuses and we never stop to think that the other fellow has his excuses all ready.

Many people have a family tree and they talk about it as though it were a California redwood in a grove of maple saplings. They are the only real thing in trees in this world of little shrubs and they take the admiration that is expressed as their just dues. It is rather amusing when one stops to think of it. So much parade and so much sentiment over a thing which is without merit so far as the descendant is concerned!

If it were the process of qualifying for ancestorship—that, now, would be a difficult thing.

Stop and ask yourself what kind of an ancestor you are going to be. Will your children's children point with pride to you as one of the mighty branches of the family tree, or will you be but an insignificant twig, bent and rotten from inner cankers?

It is a great thing to be an ancestor. Every man and woman has the chance to become such a landmark along the trail where some family is making its way.

What will you be—a great and sturdy tree or a miserable misshapen travesty of the thing God meant you to be?

Remember that it is far greater to be an ancestor worth remembering than to be a descendant with traditions as the only claim to greatness.

Electric Shovel the Better.

The advantages of an electrical shovel over a steam shovel have recently been portrayed, showing that wherever electricity is available at moderate rates, the electric shovel is much to be preferred. One of the great objections to the steam shovel, says the Scientific American, is the fact that the expense of a fireman must be paid, and the fuel, as well as the water, have frequently to be carted for a very long distance.

MASSAGING THE EYEBROWS

Care of the Face and Nails of Little Avail if This Important Feature, Is Neglected.

Women are beginning to realize the importance of beautifying their eyebrows and understand now that to manufacture the brows and massage the face for youthfulness avail little if such important features as brows are neglected.

Massaging the brows and applying tonics must be in the daily routine of most women, and those to whom nature has given pretty shaped brows must take care of them.

In care of the brows there must be a special brush. One with bristles no stiffer than those used on a young baby's head is the kind. When the brows are luxuriant and sufficiently dark in color, it behoves a woman to keep them so. Morning and night she should put a drop of sweet almond oil or glycerin on her finger tip and rub the finger over one brow, repeating the application for the other. Then she should stroke them for two or three minutes with the brush. This treatment nourishes the hair follicles, just as the scalp is toned by similar applications, and brushing of course acts as it would on the hair on the head. It may be worth while to state that without this treatment brows which are black and pretty may be gray and wiry at the age of fifty.

I know one girl who improved her eyebrows by using a paste made from the yolk of eggs and sulphur, to which she added a few drops of sweet almond oil. This paste she made from a teaspoonful of the raw yolk and into which she put powdered sulphur, as much as a small pea. A teaspoonful of sweet almond oil, stirred in drop by drop, made the paste thin, and this she spread on her brows every night. The paste must be kept in the refrigerator when not in use, for the keeping properties of eggs are delicate. In the morning the girl massaged her eyebrows with almond oil, the rubbing consisting of stroking the hair over and over again with an oily finger. The strokes were made the same way, that in which the hair should grow. This oil was finally wiped off.

When brows are so long they are unruly it is not wise to clip them, for by cutting the hairs develop the quality of bristles. At night they should be parted to the head with gum arabic or bandoline. Such a sticky paste can be made from two tablespoonfuls of quince seed gently shivered in a pint of water for three-quarters of an hour. When cold the liquid will be sticky. This mixture should be strained while hot. It is stroked on the brows while the unruly hairs are held in the line they should stay in until dry. A few weeks of such treatment will make the face more attractive and the brows will not grow bushy.

SIMPLE AND STYLISH

Here is a simple costume in a style suitable for serge, tweed or cloth; the skirt is held in flat pleats turning from the front.

The semitight jacket has a velvet collar, and revers that are faced with striped silk.

Contrast straw hat trimmed with velvet.

Materials required for the costume: 6 yards 46 inches wide, 4 1/2 yards lining silk for jacket, 3/4 yard velvet for facing collar, 1/2 yard silk for revers and cuffs.

Odds and Ends.

The ruchings of millinery that come ready for hat trimming will add the home milliner. The ruching is known by the name of chancelier and comes in a combination of colorings such as green, blue and mauve, cherry color, white and black, gray and corse, brown and blonde, as well as plain colors.

Another novelty is the quill decorated with a narrow Valenciennes lace edging. Strips of the lace run the entire length of the quill, the edges of lace and quill being even.

About half an inch of the quill shows on either side of the stem. This is an excellent way to make old quills look like new.

MULFORD VICTOR; ON 8-MILE COURSE

PILOT OF LOZIER DRIVES AT ELGIN MOST SPECTACULAR AUTO RACE.

ONLY FOUR CROSS THE TAPE

Livingstone Is Second, Greiner Third—Winner Averages 62.5 Miles an Hour, Comes Close to Vanderbilt Cup Contest Time.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 20.—Ralph Mulford, driving a Lozier car, won the Elgin national trophy in a race of 305.63 miles at an average speed of 62.5 miles an hour before a crowd of 100,000 people. His driving was of the spectacular kind and when he finished he was cheered for fully five minutes.

With But a Single Stop.

Thirty-six times the blond driver circled the rough course of country roads—a course of eight miles 2,199 feet, or, roughly, eight and one-half miles—with but a single stop. And this stop was made under his mischievous impression that a tire was in danger of slipping from the rim.

The remarkable feature of Mulford's run lies in the fact that he approached within three-tenths of a mile the maximum average in the classic Vanderbilt cup event of a year ago. That such a run could be made on country roads, with practically no preparation and for a much greater distance than that of the Vanderbilt cup race, is looked upon by experts as little short of marvelous.

Livingstone Close Behind.

Close "af" Livingstone, driver of a National, who broke another record in that his achievement was that of one man and one car in two successive races run at more than a mile a minute, in the first of which he was victor, and totaling more than 500 miles.

Livingstone's record as second at the goal was 60.2 miles an hour for the entire run of 305.63 miles.

Greiner Comes Third.

The third man, another driver of a National, was A. W. Greiner. His average time was 54.4 miles an hour, reduced far below those of the other two winners because of numerous stops for repairs and gasoline.

In addition to the numerous unexpected obstacles that were met in full view of the great throng of motor fans, demanding cool handling of cars and quick work on the part of the pilots, Livingstone was menaced by a danger of which none save his mechanic and himself was aware. He entered the race in a machine which carried two big cracks in its frame. A single extraordinary bump or jolt would have caused a twisting of the framework that would have hurled the two men from their seats to an almost certain death.

Ignores Great Danger.

Livingstone discovered the cracks when he made a final close inspection of the machine in which he was to make his fight for supremacy. He told his mechanic of the danger and told him that he could suit himself about taking the risk. The young mechanic immediately decided to enter the race.

The tolling hardships and all but insurmountable obstacles of the race were borne home to the crowd in an effective manner when, one by one, all except four of the racers succumbed to the dangers of the contest.

Only these four machines crossed the tape before the judges' stand the required number of times. All of the others, except two—either machines or men—met with accidents that threw them out of the running before the entire distance had been covered.

SANDERS RESIGNS NEW TOGA.

Louisiana Governor Takes Steps to Prevent Factional Strife.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 20.—Fearing political dissension in the ranks of the Democratic party of Louisiana that would endanger the chances of New Orleans securing the Panama exposition, Governor Jared Y. Sanders formally announced that he would resign the post of United States senator, to which he was recently elected, and that he would continue as governor of the state.

Mr. Sanders has appointed Judge J. R. Thornton of Alexandria to fill the short term as senator. The governor will enter the state primary in January, 1912, for the full six-year term.

The birth of a new faction within the Democratic party of Louisiana is indirectly responsible for Mr. Sanders' sacrificing his office.

EXPECT MONARCHIST VICTORY.

Early Returns Indicate Portugal Government Will Control Cortes.

Lisbon, Aug. 20.—Perfect order prevailed at the parliamentary elections throughout the country. The Republicans secured a majority of the seats at Lisbon, Oporto and Beja, but it is difficult at the present time to estimate the results elsewhere. The returns already at hand indicate that the government will have a majority in the cortes of from thirty-five to forty-five.

Hardwick, Mass., Aug. 20.—George Mixer of Boston, said to be the largest owner of Guernsey cattle in the world, is dead at his summer home here of Bright's disease. He was sixty-seven years old.

It is a fallacy to believe that advertising will sell anything. The store or the article advertised must first of all be good. Advertising merely directs attention to it.

The Great Chicago Fire. The Chicago fire occurred October 8 and 9, 1871. About 125,000 people were rendered homeless and over 20,000 buildings were destroyed. The loss was estimated at $200,000,000, and the area of the burned district was about 1,800 acres.

The Real Point. Pay as little attention to discouragements as possible. Plow ahead as a steamer does, rain or shine, rough or smooth. To carry your cargo and make your port is the point.—Malibu D. Hancock.

Advertising Talks

By GEORGE S. BANTA

How to Judge Results

If it were possible to tell the exact results of a given advertisement many mooted questions about advertising could be settled. An impression may last for months and finally bear results for the advertiser. Many readers of newspapers and magazines have a definite idea about an article or story with which they are acquainted only through the advertisements they have seen.

While it is true it is hard to be exact as to results, it is possible to learn more than many suppose. The average merchant sees results only when he makes a big cut in prices and by advertising the fact fills his store with people on the date of the sale. If advertising gets results of this kind, is it not plausible to presume that the daily business may be toned up in the same way?

Now suppose the merchant is a grocer. He has a small trade in a very high grade (and also high priced) brand of coffee which he has handled for years. He decides to advertise it. Let him keep account of his sales in this coffee for a given period and then suppose he run in one newspaper a suitable ad. After this ad has been used for a time, compare the sales with the number made in the original period. Then try the ad in another paper, and again make comparisons. In other words, let him experiment for his own satisfaction as to methods and mediums. A man judges a pair of shoes by the way they wear, but he knows how they wear by observing the service they give. No merchant will know anything about the results of advertising unless he makes observations upon what he spends for it as he does on what he spends for shoes.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These men seem built to make. Yet there is plenty of proof to back them up. If you are sick and suffer from P. D. Puddicombe has, if you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us! Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people have been given up by the medical profession. Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments.

EVANSVILLE FAIR TO BREAK RECORD

New Features Are Added and Outlook Grows Brighter Daily—Gillies Reunion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Aug. 29.—The outlook for a good fair this week grows brighter with the passing of each day and it is now a certainty that it will be the largest, best and most entertaining fair ever held here. There have been so many new features added this year that the programs are novel and altogether out of the ordinary. Just at present a great deal of attention is being given to the preparation of the floral parade. This has been an annual event and has always attracted a considerable share of attention, but this year it will be altogether different and promises to be far better. Automobiles will be used to take the place of horses and carriages. Miss Maude Winship has entire charge of this feature and she already has the promise of twenty machines and these will all be attractively decorated. Each make of cars will be classed by itself and judged accordingly. This attraction will be put on both Wednesday and Thursday afternoons as it has required too much labor and expense for one display. The ball game for Tuesday will be a contest between the butchers and barbers of Evansville and the local butchers and barbers instead of the Jaycees and Deacons, as had at first been planned.

Family Reunion.

A reunion of the Gillies family was held here Friday, Aug. 26. There were about fifty present and the gathering was a most enjoyable one. A feature of the day was a picnic dinner in the city park. The out of town guests included Mrs. Mattie McAllister of Tracy, Minn.; Mrs. Ida Gillies Johnson and Miss Irene Olin of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones and daughter of Janesville; Miss Maggie Gillies of Seymour, Ill.; Dr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Brown of Madison; Chester Gillies and wife of Stoughton; Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd of Emerald Grove; Mrs. Charles Dowse and daughter of Spring Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harkness and daughter and Messrs. Bert, Frank and William Lloyd with their wives, all of Rock Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gillies and son, Stanley, of Cookeville; Miss Daisy Baldwin and Robert Gillies of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Griffith entertained a company of relatives and friends at a six o'clock dinner Friday evening. There were about fifteen present and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McAtee and Mr. and Mrs. Cash Cleaves of Madison.

Charles Bullard and bride returned Saturday from a ten days' wedding trip in the East.

Dr. J. M. Means has returned from a week's stay in Prairie du Chien.

Julius Graeff of Milwaukee was in Evansville on business Friday.

W. D. Tuller and grandson, Walter Cartright of Milwaukee, arrived Saturday evening and will be guests of Evansville relatives this week.

Byrd Ballard was home from Janesville over Sunday.

MONROE RESIDENT DESCRIBES ZURICH

John Buchsinger Tells of Scenery About His Birthplace in Switzerland.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Monroe, Wis., August 29.—John Buchsinger, who is now sojourning for a few months at his old birthplace in Zurich, Switzerland, has sent back in a most vivid and realistic account of the scenery about Zurich and tells of many historical events connected with the different buildings and adjacent surroundings. Mr. Buchsinger is at present in the mountain canton of Glarus in secluded valley where some of the finest mountain scenery in the world is found. The scenery about the canton is very wild and rustic and the snow covered peaks of the Glarner can be easily seen. In the narrow valley at Nafels was fought the great battle won by the Swiss over a much larger army of Austrians, which resulted in complete independence of the canton and of Eastern Switzerland. Mr. Buchsinger says it seems odd to see German customs of fields, search the parcels of every passenger in the trains for goods liable for duty. At Basel was seen the historical museum and near that city the monument commemorating the battle of St. Jakob fought near Basel in the fourteenth century. A figure representing the fatherland is surrounded by four wounded warriors. Mr. Buchsinger writes that Basel is one of the cleanest cities he has visited in Europe.

Knight of Stratmore, the peeling coat owned by George Heller, of this city, finished second in a close race at Oregon, Ill. Charles Simmons, the noted half miler, placed won out in 2:08 1/2, a new length record of Stratmore. The Knight crowded the winner close in every heat.

Miss Grace Dunwiddie entertained twelve lady friends at a formal dinner at her home on East Washington street Saturday evening at 6:30.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pickford and Fred Sears, of Madison, were Sunday guests of J. H. Clarke and family.

Misses Grace Travis and Weltha Stauffer are making a visit to friends in Chicago.

Miss Ida Hall, of La Crosse, is a guest of Peter Burke and family.

Miss Marjorie Clark and Wayne Clark arrived here today from St. Paul and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kohl.

PEN MAKERS CINCH THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat Lewis Knitting Company Team and Take Ninth Consecutive Game—Woolen Mills Sec.

With their defeat of the Lewis Knitting Company's team, 13 to 10, at Camp Park Saturday afternoon, the Parker Pen Company won their ninth consecutive game, and clinched their hold on the McNamara trophy for the coming league championship. Dowsy, Hall and Doherty worked for the Pen Makers in Saturday's game, while Abraham and Dorf formed the battery for the Lewis Knitting Company.

By winning 3 to 2, from the Y. M. C. A., the Rock River Woolen Mills team also made sure of the Shedd cup which will go to the runner-up to the champions. Orr and Hall formed the battery for the victors with Doherty and Fleming as opponents.

With the last games to be played next Saturday, the victories by the league leaders yesterday make the disposition of the cups a foregone conclusion. "Skeely" Hall of the champs, who secured three hits yesterday, has the edge on his rivals for the best individual batting average and seems in a fair way to win the Conrad cup.

FAKE AD SERVICE

Convincers Who Come to Janesville.

There are so many things said to merchants nowadays under the name of advertising which are really no good at all, that when someone comes along with a proposition that looks as though it had real advertising merit, many merchants fall for it quick and think they have a "sure all" for business evils.

Among the worst of the schemes now being "sold" to the merchant is the so-called "Ad Service," which includes cut-and-dried ads and flurries and pretty pictures. These ads are purposely written so they will apply to any business, because they must be sold in large quantities. The ads are usually, no good at all—they can't be good, for the fundamental reason that "things which can be said about anyone's business are not good things to talk in your ads."

Advertising which gets results must educate the people to the peculiarities of YOUR business, YOUR goods. It must say things about YOUR business which will show for it an advantage over the other fellow.

These cut and serve ads are sold by smoothly tongued solicitors who promise GREAT RESULTS for the ads, who prate on the value of the cuts as "eye catchers" and pass lightly over the cost to you. If you buy such a service you expect great returns from the ads—you don't get them and you blame the newspaper you say advertising doesn't pay, and you are right to a certain extent. POOR advertising doesn't pay—good advertising MUST pay or their word would not be so much of it.

The Gazette will give you an ad service FREE, which will advise with you about YOUR business and which WILL get results. The right kind of advertising adapted to any good business cannot help but get results for you.

BLIND INSTITUTE'S BOILERS CONDEMNED

Are Being Replaced by Two Drafted From Mendota Asylum—School May Not Open on Sept. 14.

Four weeks ago the state inspector visited the Blind Institute and condemned the boilers there in use. Superintendent Brown immediately came to the state board of control and announced that it would require several months to get an order for new ones. It was deemed advisable to draft into service two for which the state asylum at Mendota was not in immediate need. They arrived on Saturday and because it will require considerable time to set even one of them up it may not be possible to open the school on Sept. 14, as had been planned. Allen D. Conner and Mat J. Tappin, secretary of the state board of control, came from Madison Saturday. The trip was made by touring car, the state officials being guests of Henry Pope.

CROP REPORTS ARE MOST ENCOURAGING

Indications Point to Fair Corn and Some Good Stands of Tobacco This Fall.

After the long hot summer and the reports that all the crops were burned up it is refreshing to learn that all was not as bad as anticipated. The grain crop was exceptionally good and very heavy considering everything. Prices have also remained good on the whole and it has been safely harvested. Reports from the various tobacco districts show that the crop will be just fair on the whole although many fields are in poor shape there is a good stand in some localities and with good growing weather from now will turn out well. Reports from different localities show that the average yield will be a good one. Near Cooksville Lloyd Hubbard has a good crop and the yield is well along with the week. Near After a good stand of corn is reported on the farm of former Game Warden Drahall and his yield of grain was good and very heavy. His sons have purchased a corn shredder and expect to be very busy all fall. Corn near the city of Janesville is also reported to be growing in fair shape now that the rains have come and the yield is expected to be good. The general state report sent out from Madison is as follows:

Threshing of small grains has for the most part been finished. In the southern tier of counties the yields were uniformly large, fifty to sixty bushels being a frequent average. Reports from the region around Eau Claire, which is farther north, are not so promising. There the oats are turning out only a half crop, the yield running from four to thirty bushels to the acre, while in a few isolated cases it has gone as high as forty. In the same section wheat is threshing between seven and twenty bushels per acre, and rye between four and fifteen. Rye will be a fair crop and barley only a quarter crop.

The grain crop in that country is spotted to an unusual degree this season, that is, it is good in spots and bad in other spots, and fall in still other spots. All over the state the outlook for a bumper crop is of the best. The recent abundant rains went along wonderfully. For the same reason tobacco growers in this vicinity are rejoicing. It has been a week of tremendous development in the later fields, which are fast assuming a satisfactory size, and about all that is needed is suitable weather to mature, and some fair-sized blunder leaf is assured.

Late potatoes look more promising, potatoes are improving, and many farmers have been able to discontinue feeding their stock with hay and castage.
